Joseph Lasser.

Dear Joe:

Continental Currency #7 May 20, 1777 #161051 in my opinion is absolutely genuine. The signatures appear quite normal. The top signature may be a new signer and I read this name as J or I Chrysiler (Chrysler). Jas Ross is below. Whether these signatures were written by others for these men I do not try to guess but that is always possible.

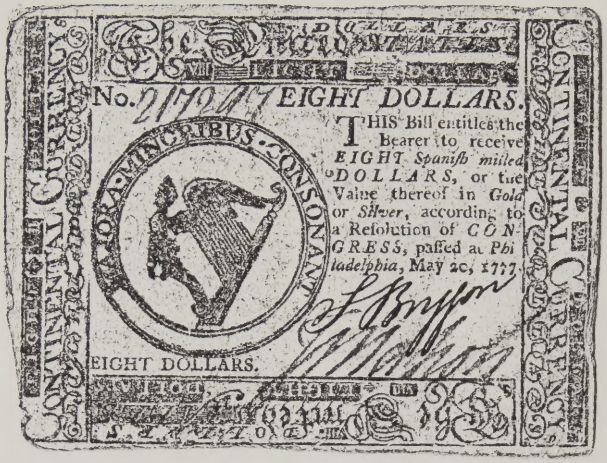

The piece is returned herewith. The help I have given is not worth a Continental.

Thanks for the stimulating puzzle.

Eric

Dear Joe:

Thanks for the fine photocopies of the 6d RI 1743/44 redated 1746.

Having never seen an example, I am glad to correct the date when the SPEARMUS spelling change took place in 1747.

I will add Jonathan Nichols but I want you to be sure his signature is not written over another signature. I am aware of the differences in writing of Benjamin Nichols.

Now as to the OTI mystery. I had already solved it on old page 336. The O is a decorative loop. The T.I. is the engraver who added his name when he was adding 1746 to the face plate. It is curious he only put his initials on the 6d so far as my records show. Poor Old Tenor died again.

Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Dear Eric —

It was good seeing Evelyn and you on Saturday night -- but there really wasn't much chance to talk. I had to host Sharon Ganz while you got the beautiful Chinese lady -- and I had to keep George Ewing in the orbit too.

Thanks for the advice concerning the Colombian gold project -- but it bothers me to leave major errors in the numismatic community -- and I wish I had the writing facility that you exhibit so well.

I'm aware of the Suros disaster. It was in the papers and got a short comment on TV. Our good doctor really needs a psychiatrist. He's destroyed himself -- and from what little I saw of him last fall at COAC, he was pleasant, informed and intelligent -- (obviously, only up to a point).

I hope your program to prevent Helperin from reaching a Governorship succeeds -- You always take action where it's needed.

What a wonderful energy quotient!!!

Dear Eric –

Damn!! – – You are terrific!!!
Mark is busy with other things including the new 100 BC Bible, a 27 page Declaration of Independence and a revised Magna Carta – – so you'll find it necessary to depend on me.

In the text (1049 Continental Currency), could I suggest in the FP starting "John Mease" line 20 "of ~~such~~ his appointments"?

I've xeroxed most of the bills relating to the other suggested changes (Not many because your research is wonderful.) but I'd think it might be better to use "8/11/78 – 9/26/78" rather than "8/11/78 to 9/26/78 because three men (Chas. Alexander, Richard Eyres & Samuel Lyon) were authorized 9/26/78

more

I've red inked my other suggestions which I leave to your good critical judgement. -- I must make one additional comment - Daniel Levan was a Sheriff in Philadelphia County -- of some prominence -- and so is more logical than Livan as set forth in the list (see my Xeroxed note).

As usual, I forgot to say something. You'll find a Xerox of p. 194 Vol. IV Journals of the Continental Congress with the 60 newly authorized signers on 3/9/76 -- when type was set last time, Isaac Hazlehurst was omitted -- so there are 60 authorized signers 3/9/76; not 59 as in the new list. All the other changes are correct (from my knowledge). WOW!!! ~~You~~ You really do an impressively knowledgable job.

It becomes a joy to help because your product is so superior.

Dear Joe:

Ben Franklin as a printer of paper money would have enjoyed being bound in marbled paper, having his spine embossed in gold, and being protected by a beautiful slipcover. In fact, he enjoyed being in a bind.

Thus, as a devotee of Franklin, I too am in ecstasy over the specially bound copy of The Early Paper Money of America which you were thoughtful enough to arrange to be sent to me.

You were of enormous help to my pet project and I am glad I had three opportunities to try to get it in acceptable form. You are most generous in your respect for the work. This coffee table beauty will never see a coffee table, as I treasure it too much to risk a spill.

Dear Joe:

I have almost recovered from jet lag.

My wife took me on a mystery trip, as you know, and I packed for the Arctic, the desert, the beach, the jungle and city life. She packed the suitcase secretly and hid all the other items so I didn't know where I was going. In fact, there was some question as to whether that is still my existing condition. In any event, we went to Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, etc. over my birthday.

Yesterday I checked my North Carolina collection, and you are absolutely right that I do not have the 40 shilling note from 1758. I thank you for not only your thoughtfulness but the "beyond the call of friendship" diligence with which you undertook to find something for me which would make a lasting impression. It is a lovely item to have. You said you would cut your throat if I already had it, and I certainly would have had a problem if I had it already. Your throat is indispensable.

I am very grateful for your kindness in giving me my most interesting present.

Again, may I express how effective your talk was at COAC. I wonder what reaction you will have from those who still hope that the Jacobs family were other than Quakers.

Please stay in good health and good spirits, as we have a lot of things to do together in the future.

My best.

Dear Eric:

The field of numismatics lost one of the most admired members of its community with Lester Merkin's passing on July 27th.

Lester was unique -- as each of us is across the spectrum of human society. Lester's special characteristics made him extraordinary to the benefit of everyone he knew. Quiet, kind, diplomatic -- with an alert mind and impeccable standards of integrity, Lester was sought after for his knowledge, acuity and honesty by everyone involved in numismatics -- and Lester responded with care, concern and exceptional performance.

Looking ahead, it seems fitting that Lester's name be carried forward to numismatists of the 21st century by dedicating a portion of the American Numismatic Society's facilities to Lester.

As a friend, would you, could you, help fund such an effort by making a contribution to the American Numismatic Society Lester Merkin Memorial Fund? It would be heartwarming to see Lester's name continuing to be a constructive influence in the field of numismatics.

Dear Eric -

Last week I spent a few hours at the library with the New York City Directories and could not find a Charles Enders, Jr. in the period 1859/60 1877/8 (directories ended in May).

There were some "Enders" in the directories, Christian, John etc. but none at the addresses indicated in your xerox and none whose identifications (appear to) would relate to the xerox.

I suspect that the City Directories are far from complete -- unless the population of New York City during the Civil War and post Civil War period was much smaller than I imagine.

I'll revisit the Library again within the next few weeks and attempt to explore with the library staff some other approaches to the problem that might be successful.

BALMANNO COLLECTION.

It is with pleasure that I announce, to Numismatists and Collectors of rare and fine

ENGLISH, IRISH AND SCOTCH COINS, that I shall present for public competition, about May 5th, the well known cabinet of

Mr. ALEXANDER BALMANNO, of Brooklyn, New York.

This Collection has been accumulated during the past twenty-five years, and is replete with the choicest specimens culled from all American Sales within that period, besides liberal importations from Europe. The Mickley, Cohen, Clay, Stenz, Root, Moore, and other distinguished cabinets furnished their quota of rarities; and it is seldom that such a continuous array of gems in any series is found in a single Collection.

The Catalogue will be ready early in April, wherein the fullest details as to description and condition, will be found. An edition will be issued having four heliotype plates, which will contain some of the choicest pieces,—this will be furnished before the Sale at 65 cents, or neatly priced in red ink after the Sale, at $1.25.

The Catalogue without plates will be sent to Collectors free on application.

Dear Eric —

This note comes to you as we return from our customary holiday visit to Oberlin. I wanted to be in touch for two reasons; ENMA received no more than it deserves. It represents the best in scholarship -- and, at the same time, -- it symbolizes an unceasing drive to achieve perfection, a motivation that is lost too often after an initial basic project is completed. You're extraordinary. Your contributions are extraordinary.

Now for reason number two. I know that Bob Wilburn has been in touch with you asking for a discussion of the possibility of a numismatic center. You know my feelings. Placing our two collections together -- and, clearly, yours is the central matter, we would be able to create a unique American numismatic asset, affording future generations of numismatic scholars a resource that almost certainly could not be attempted to be reproduced or duplicated ever again -- and the excess portions now in my hands could endow a uniquely American numismatic curatorialship. Quite possibly -- and, logically, I should provide you with more insight as to my collection's breadth and depth. The Latin American section includes all of the standard pieces and, to the most sophisticated specialists, an array of rarities important to both numismatic chronology and general history. I take pride in my French collection, which also is complete in all standard respects from 1643 to 1776 -- and has a number of pieces considered major rarities in the series. The Dutch section, I believe is the broadest and deepest in the United States, encompassing not only the normally circulating coins but also the Southeast Asian trading pieces, siege pieces and the like. The Colombian collection, today, is the best research collection of the 1622-1756 cob period. It may not be quite as strong as Lia Meissner's (in) silver cob holdings, but its Santa Fe and Cartagena gold range far beyond Sra. Meissner's in breadth and depth. I could go on with comments on Britain, Massachusetts silver, early banknotes, Rose nobles and other coins adopted by foreign commercial communities because of their general acceptance in international trade -- but I'm certain that if you want further information, you'll ask →

JOSEPH R. LASSER
119 CUSHMAN ROAD
SCARSDALE, NY 10583

Yes, I continue to wish to act as an advocate for the creation of such an institution, but I'm also cognizant that your decision may not be the one that I hope for. If we do not reach the same conclusion, I will be disappointed but it will not alter the bond of friendship and respect has been such a positive factor for me during the past thirty years.

All the Best,

Joe

Dear Joe:

In our talk today you said you were going to donate more of your foreign coins which circulated in America.

I just acquired a rare gold coin scale of 1749 and enclose a picture and written detail of its label. It is from Boston when the exchange rate stabilized. The engraver was Thomas Johnston of Boston.

I have never collected European coins which circulated in the colonies, but if you wish to donate a few examples to the above organization it would be helpful. It is a fully qualified 501(c)(3) operating foundation.

The 36 shilling sterling piece mentioned is a single Johannes, the 18 shilling is a half Johannes, and the 9 shilling piece is a quarter Johannes of Portugal. The Spanish pieces are pistoles.

I have other scales with a few different coins described, but this is the best.

It was a pleasure talking to you.

Numismatically yours,

September 18, 1998

Dear Joe:

The book on Columbia Cobs has such exciting covers that I studied them carefully before I peeked inside. When I began to read I almost forgot I was reading Spanish because coin language is universal. Then I began to look at the illustrations and realized how many thousand pieces had to be examined to find dates and readable insignia. The normal item must lack such features because of the crude production so I truly appreciate what you and Jorge have done. The comparative detail of the device elements is beautifully done and I had no idea it was so complex. To be a coauthor with a scholar who obviously is so outstanding must mean he deeply respects your input. I congratulate you for taking the corn off the cob. Thank you so much.

The September 2, 1776 excerpt from the Journals of the Continental Congress which you quickly located and of which I was unaware is a wonderful help. It proves you are right in not being able to date my scale and also gives me a new factor to consider. The scale uses the word "Cents". The Journals use "Dollars" and "parts of a dollar" and also use decimals to six places under "value in Dollars". The omission of any reference to "Cents" leads me toward a later date. Does this make cents or not?

Thanks so much for your help on this matter. I can always rely on new input from you.

Take a look at Kelly's Cambist (1841?). You'll see a virtually similar presentation; so the absence of "cents" is not surprising. My guess is that, Jefferson's library, or someone else's, provided the predecessor table for the 9/2/76 date. Something had to be done quickly (over)

You're the first to see what I've acquired in direct Colonial/American coinage. I've had to modify my journals a number of times; so the Xeroxes may not be as clearly sequential as they might be, i.e. all the Massachusetts material is about 20 pages into the list — and I've numbered by Breen's listing so that ~~it~~ each coin would be readily identifiable in the future — and I have a full collection of the Vox Populi pieces (the reference collection). That said, you'll see my:—

1) Colonial & French Canadian coppers
2) Colonial/Silver
3) No. American Trade Silvers
4) Latin American Tumbago & Cut Treasure pieces
5) Countermarked material
6) Baker — Washington material
7) Betts material
8) Jamison and other historical medals
9) Indian Peace Medals.

Hopefully, they will look to be a satisfactory assemblage to you.

I've already given to Williamsburg:

1) 970 Colonial & Continental bills
2) 185 Latin American and 26 Coins that were the first designated as acceptable for official payments by the Continental Congress
3) 50 Major Latin American Coins
4) A Complete type collection of French coins 1643 – 1776
5) 499 Dutch coins from the 16th through 18th Centuries
6) 193 pieces from England, Brazil, early Bolivia, Guatemala and Chile

I still also have

1) The definitive Colombian gold and silver cob collection
2) A sizeable Trade Coinage collection
3) A sizeable Siege pieces group Netherlands, England, Europe
4) His Bank notes from 1791 to 1837
5) Rose Nobles and Imitations

The #1–6 at the top of the page are the major gifts. They've been supplemented by other, smaller, specific gifts to enhance specific projects being undertaken by Williamsburg.

That's it. I've probably forgotten to include 10–20% of the over-all total.

Have fun looking at the Colonial material.

I look forward to hearing from you –

As always, you're the best,

Joe

From the desk of JOSEPH R. LASSER

9/16/01

Dear Eric –

As always, you're three steps ahead of me. You've thoroughly thought through the future management ~~of~~ for collections and given me much to consider.

Here's the $40 CC 4/11/78 counterfeit I described to you on the phone ——

All the Best – again —

Joe

To: Joseph Lasser October 9, 2001

From: Eric P. Newman

I have studied the illustration of the $40 April 11, 1778 Yorktown Continental Currency bill which you sent me from the September 21, 2001 Currency Auctions of America Lot # 5024. It is a counterfeit as you determined. It is the third counterfeit listed in my book but the description of the counterfeit in the book was mostly derived from the official broadside and is not very clear. Accordingly I have revised the description in my notes for any next edition. I have all three counterfeit varieties.

Thank you for calling this to my attention. Continue to keep me posted.

Dear Joe:

As I informed you we located in England two items I thought would please you. These should go nicely with your Portuguese gold collection. Both are English 18th century coin weights to test the weight of Portuguese gold coins circulating in both England and America. They were kept in pocket balances.

Moidore in brass dated 1748. Withers # 1486
Half moidore in brass. Withers # 1435

Enjoy them as they prove the circulation of Portuguese gold in England and her colonies.

Keep collecting,

Eric P. Newman

Dear Eric –

When I opened the ANS summer bulletin, I didn't realize that I'd have the pleasure of reading Oliver Hoover's review of Fugio Copper Coinage. You continue to produce remarkable additions to American numismatics in addition to all your contributions of educating, mentoring lecturing and financially supporting the best quality research for, to my knowledge, more than SIX decades.

I've been among the members of the numismatic community that you've befriended, mentored, assisted and encouraged -- and you keep on moving forward with additional scholastic advances and unfailingly producing valuable additions to our provocative field. Your standards are marvelous, your energy is remarkable,

You have long been my model, but I can't reach your level. You're just too good, too competent for me to match your stature. I watch; I admire and I'm grateful for all our interactions since the 1970's. Keep going.

You remain incredible —

Don't change —

Joe

Dear Eric -

Yes, I know that I'm late, but I want to wish you a "Happy Birthday". I only became aware of your birth date when I saw the story in Coin World -- and then I couldn't play "catch up" and extend my good wishes until today.

You've been my mentor, friend and model for more than thirty years, I'll continue to pursue your extraordinary capabilities not only in numismatic research and publications, but also your and Evelyn's contributions to your community and all the educational and charitable contributions that you've made. You have been absolutely remarkable -- and the World is better for your efforts.

Just keep going. Just keep building. Wow!! Do I admire you!!

Dear Joe:

Reading about you in the January 2009 Numismatist was a gracious recognition of a few of your accomplishments. You created your own success and that is so admirable. I am proud to be a friend of yours for so many decades. Keep going and don't stop achieving.

To give you an additional moment of satisfaction I want to correct an error I made with respect to classifying the watermarked 1796 (undated) $2 4 Bank of New York note. This mistake apparently occurred when the Apr 18, 1796 State of New York dated counterfeit was described in the local press. Whether I or an informant confused the matter I cannot recall, but mea culpa. Thank you for correcting me. I enclosed data supporting the matter of the State counterfeits.

It is only the postal department which can cancel your opinion.

Happy everything to you and yours.

Eric

Dear Eric -

When I received your letter yesterday, both my first reaction and later, my more thoughtful and analytical response has been how fortunate I am to have found you as a friend and mentor.

You have wonderfully enriched my life with friendship, intellectual stimulus and knowledge. -- And your standards are impeccable. They act as aspiring models for everyone you encounter, I say, aspiring, rather than inspiring because your pattern of conduct is something that everyone should try to reach, to try to achieve.

As always, your student and friend - Joe

The outflowing life of Joseph R. Lasser is an amazing example of human devotion to the improvement of lives of others and to his own accomplishments. The combination of his education, family influence, energy and competence produced a mentor of towering significance. His enthusiasm and ability created his sound financial understanding and guidance for [redacted] himself and others as well as his creative generosity. His exciting [redacted] aptitude to his numismatic studies and collecting were a steady stimulant to him and many others. His love of his family and his accumulation of many friends far and wide made his life a completed model

His numismatic research was available to me for over 50 years and his encouragement was [redacted] continual. His numismatic gift to Colonial Williamsburg greatly improved its status for public education and enjoyment

Above all his integrity and civility was natural to him.
